we don't study English, we learn in English.

The Keynes High School is a modern, international, and open learning environment, where academic study is intertwined with personal growth, awareness, and responsibility. It is a high school designed for students who wish to understand the world and themselves through culture, language, research, and meaningful exchange.

We offer two pathways, the International Language High School and the International Science High School, both built on the same educational vision: a school that develops well-prepared, independent students, ready to face the future with strong skills and an international mindset.

International Language High School

Designed for students who wish to explore the world through languages, culture, and connection. English, French, and Spanish are strongly enhanced through a structured programme that combines curriculum lessons with conversation classes led by native-speaking teachers, allowing students to experience language in a practical and everyday way. This is complemented by the study of Arabic, which further enriches the educational journey and opens perspectives towards Mediterranean cultures.

International Science High School

This pathway combines a solid scientific foundation with a modern and international approach. STEM subjects are taught with rigour and method, fostering logical thinking, analytical skills, and digital competence. Studying scientific subjects also in English offers a concrete advantage: it allows students to acquire technical language and familiarity with academic content in the most widely used language in scientific and university contexts, preparing them to navigate international academic and professional environments with confidence.

LIFE SKILLS

A subject dedicated to the development of essential life skills. Students learn how to manage emotions, communicate effectively, speak in public, make informed decisions, understand the value of consent and relationships, develop financial and psychological literacy, and cultivate personal wellbeing.

CLIL MODULES

CLIL stands for Content and Language Integrated Learning and refers to lessons in which some non-linguistic subjects are taught directly in a foreign language. In this way, language is not studied only as a subject, but becomes a real tool for learning. CLIL improves comprehension, fluency, and confidence in the use of English, while also developing critical thinking and the ability to reason in an international context.

PERFORMING ARTS

Theatre, music, and dance become tools for self-expression, helping students strengthen language proficiency while developing confidence, creativity, and leadership skills.

Real experiences

Students take part in cultural exchanges, international projects, and study trips that offer concrete opportunities for collaboration with European and non-European partner schools. These experiences are not optional, but an integral part of the curriculum: moments in which language becomes real experience and learning turns into openness of mind.
